

SPIRIT SPEAK

Welcome!

To the Spirit Speak TAROT Guidebook. I wanted to write a Guidebook to my CARDS because each image that I created was very intentional.
I hope that with these words you will be able to better understand each of my actions. I wanted my deck to be easy to use & Read.
I poured my heart into these cards & in your hands you hold a piece of my dreams. Thank you for that!
I cannot express what that means to me.

So much love,
MARY elizabeth EVANS

A person stands,
belongings packed.
They are ready to catch a train, not knowing where it will lead them. The fool represents a new beginning without knowing where you will end up. You're not worried about that though, you are filled with the excitement of the new!

HANDS hold
a sword, pentacle,
wand, and cup,
surrounded by roses.
These hands represent a multi-ability & skill. The roses represent positivity & fertility. You have all the skills you need for any opportunity that may come your way. The time is fruitful, use your tools

THE KEEPER of secrets. The high priestess knows that of the universes true mysteries. She is the gate between the earthly world & places that are otherworldly. Her knowledge can make her appear blunt & uncaring. This is because she cannot be bothered with petty issues revolving around the material world. She is not to be messed with. In the card a snake comes out of her mouth and stares her in the eye around a crystal ball. The crystal ball represents her ability to see the unseen. The snake represents the severeness of the knowledge that she has coiled inside of herself.

She is the MOTHER

She holds an egg,
Representing birth (it often represents pregnancy) She also holds a Scepter that shows the responsibility a mother inherits when bringing a new life. There is Ivy to represent fertility, devotion (to motherhood), and Love. Saturn is above her representing Authority. I used authoritative images because I personally feel like mothers have 2 sides, which is loving and also ruling. To have both in balance is a very powerful thing.

THE FATHER

He is a house, secure & stable. The house also represents a material wealth. He is the provider & protector. He is not as warm as his empress counterpart but strict in his boundaries. But that is what makes him the rock that the people in his life build upon.

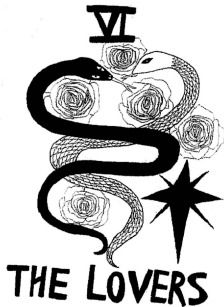

A spiritual leader or figure. In the card I drew a Saguaro cactus because of their spiritual significance to me. The Saguaro is a sacred plant, a guardian, and an ancient. It is sharp and unbending in its ways

They can survive in a sometimes dire environment, devoid of water, but inside they are a well. I look to that imagery as an example of how I want to have my own power in the world. I want to be so strong in myself that I am a fertile well. Even when the environment around me is void of water which brings all life, I can be unmoving & unbending in my inner strength.

The lovers represent a new budding relationship or friendship. Snakes can represent eternal love. I also see them as a sexual symbol. These lovers are entwined but in the corner a star demands attention. The star is a choice, a decision that needs to be made for the relationship to continue to the next level.

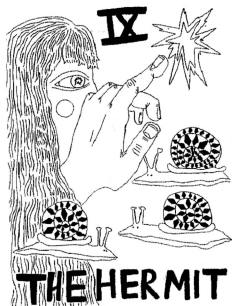

No one can stop you!
It's hard work no
doubt, but you are a force to be reckoned with! The tree represents strength, a giant natural force. The boxing glove represents your unstoppable force. In result cities of achievement arise from the clouds. The gain may not be only physical but mental as well.

JUSTICE is a stern
unbiased ruler. Justice does what is fair not good & kind. The sword represents the sternness of that which is just. On one side a skull represents death, and on the other side a bud, ready to bloom, representing new life. Justice must balance the 2. Some must live and some must die. The eyes represent wise sight & vision.

The hermit card
Represents a time to look inward to your Spiritual Self. The figure is creating a magic spark and at the same time is still figuring it out. Their eyes are mystified by discovering their own power. The snails with quilted backs represent staying at home, staying inward cozied up in a warm quilt.

In the wheel of fortune you see night & day.
The card represents a rather drastic change.
In my experience it has always been for the positive. The snake slithering below represents a descent into earth and the material world and the fox rises above in ascent into the spiritual realm.

In the CARD I drew a Shadow Rabbit grabbing a lion's open mouth. The Reason I wanted the Rabbit to have the appearance of a shadow puppet is because I feel like you must gather strength that you may not feel like you have. We must make ourselves larger than we appear. The shadow puppet being only a projection of a smaller thing. Be brave you can overcome any obstacle!

LET GO

you need to sacrifice something you have been holding onto. Sometimes I see this card as someone who bends over backwards. The figure is upside down tied by their foot but there is no struggle, they are relaxed. But you can not move forward until you cut that rope. CUT TIES that bind you.

This card in particular I wanted to change from the way it is often perceived.
The death card does not represent a physical death that so many of us fear.
It is a death of the old and birth of the new. It is change. Hands hold a Rose of Jericho in water.
It is also known as the Resurrection plant
because appearing dead, when put in water they magically return to their life like state

The mixing of opposites, fire & water. Temperance is compromise. The dove represents peace. The water must be evaporated by the flame and the fire
drenched by water.
This way they both
continue to flourish because of their sacrifice.

Another card I wanted to alter the common perspective of. Many people fear the devil as an evil force that takes you captive. I agree that it can take you captive, but of your own doing. The devil card is your own demons. The vices in your life that can take over your thoughts and distract you from your true path. You have the control.

The tower also seems to put fear into people. Probably because a lot of cards depict a tower on fire falling. I understand how that imagery does apply. In my view, the tower is passion/fire/bang! Its power & its electricity! And that kind of extreme energy can be dangerous. I see it as this climbing action of up! up! up! up! Use caution with this wild energy or you might tumble over...

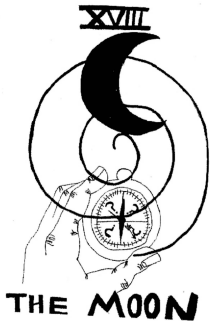

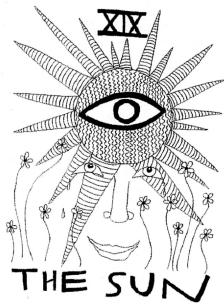

Positivity & light!
A good omen, it is hope & promise. It is the light & it is magic. The Chandelier Represents
light and also beauty & wealth. The horseshoe is for good luck & the iris, hope. This card brings great things.

Being UNSURE. NOT
Knowing which direction to take. Having difficulty making decisions.

illusion & fluctuation
look to your feelings & dreams for solutions not to logic.

The Sun Shines brightly Upon you! Positivity!
Brightness! Life is all around you! In the card the 3rd eye shines so brightly with positive enlightenment that tears spill out. Plants grow all around as a symbol of life.

Judgment day
all that you have done
will now be coming back to you. Hands Reach up to the heavens, ready to be taken from the material world, into another Realm. The sea represents emotion that can sometimes torment us on the earth. The hands are reaching to be absolved and
cleared of the past.

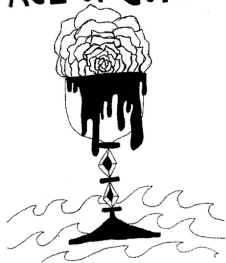

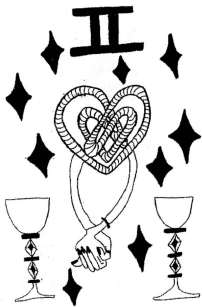

Completion of a
cycle, accomplishment.
The card shows a crown and a trophy
in glowing reward.
you have made it to the finish line and you can enjoy the completion of your long journey.

Fresh Love!
giddiness
A crush & excitement
Joy in loves beginnings fruitfulness

ACE OF CUPS

3 cups behind

magic, but all you can focus on is the one cup that has been turned over. You can only see your loss. But there is so much going for you if you could just turn around

grief

There is A loss and there must be time to MOURN that loss. What Remains is still salvagable, but work & a lot of love must be focused to Rehabilitate what Remains.

past efforts bring Reward to the future.
if you look at the 5 of cups the 6 is the person who took all of that work and love that needed to be done & built it up.
Possibly can mean an encounter with the past.
The full flower & bud intertwined symbolize a connection between past & present. Stars of promise surround you.

You are filled with beautiful dreams & ideas. There is so much imaginative
activity happening.
But you must put work in to make these dreams into realities
or they will remain in the clouds.

VIII

ENDING, moving on end of Relationship
The cloaked figure walks away from cups overturned into the ocean. The love that filled them Returns to the Sea from which they came. The Journey alone is to a new spiritual place, a search for the inner Self. The moon Shows its full cycle, the beginning & ending together.

Wishes granted
magic! passion! love!
Sex!

A time to enjoy the loveliness around you.
The crystal ball shows a wish of love & the magic wand above
it grants these wishes

will not be an easy one.
But, you have all the tools to get through it.
In the end, what you learn will help you achieve your ultimate goals.

BALANCE

you walk a tight rope without acknowledging the storm below.

Eventually the storm
needs to be addressed.
you can't balance on that rope forever.
you will have to get down & face
your problems.

A terrible stress has happened to you,
heartbreak, betrayal.
The swords have injured you. But they have now been removed and it is time for healing to begin ♥

you are exhausted.
It is time for rest.
You need to gather
your power and organize your priorities. Think upon your spiritual journey and what truly matters to you. The Swords represent the stress that has surrounded you &
the roses represent positive thoughts that can come from resting a troubled mind.

All around you
there is trouble & stress. It is not your doing, you did nothing to cause this intense strife. However you are stuck in it, you must do your best to stay positive & take care of yourself. Do not play into other people's drama.

A PASSING
"the literal death card" moving on to a calmer place. A woman has traveled away from a fiery city and has moved past all the Swords that tried to impale her on the way. Now
She can go and live in peace (on rest).

The fingers crossed behind her back
represents deceit.
The flower crown
represents her appearance as innocent, however, her nails are sharp and she has weapons along her back.
Are we deceiving
ourselves?
pay attention to what is true

entrapment A beautiful Rose is trapped behind Sharp Swords. She cannot grow because of this.
the stress of this inability to grow
takes over your mind.

There is no Physical or Real life Problem. The trouble lies within your own mind.
You are paralyzed
by your own torment.

The worst mental stress & torment.
